

A BETTER TOMORROW

As the holiday season ends and we close out a challenging 2020, SAVE has been working from our office all year answering calls, responding to emails, distributing our materials, training online and continuing our programs that have helped save lives and support those impacted by a loss. It has not been an easy year, yet we are dedicated to making sure those that need us are cared for compassionately no matter what the world brings as it did this year.

I am hopeful that 2021 will be a brighter and better year for everyone. This hope comes from all of you, our supporters, sponsors, followers, volunteers and donors. You financially support us to keep our doors open so that we can be there for those that need us. You inspire us to do more, be creative and innovative in our work, and you help share our belief that a world without suicide is what we must keep working toward. This is exactly why we continue to develop new awareness campaigns, train and conduct educational programs, provide support for those in crisis and for those grieving, publish ground-breaking research and develop new programs to reach more people than ever before.

On behalf of our board of directors, staff, volunteers and charters across the country, thank you. We wouldn't be here without you and are honored to be part of your lives. In all of the ways you have helped SAVE, thank you. Together, we are saving lives.

Happy New Year!

Dr. Dan Reidenberg
Executive Director - SAVE